

It's empty inside

the surly faggot in the Calvin Klein underwear

ad, but his face
sneaks volumes,

reminding you
not of your own face but some other

out in the air, that anyone can walk through and briefly claim.